

Tasting Trail TASMANIA

Membership Prospectus 23/24

For our visitors, the Tasting Trail is a self-guided touring experience in Tasmania's north and northwest that showcases the diversity of premium produce and the personalities behind it. For our industry, the Tasting Trail is a marketing group aiming to collaborate with producers and tourism operators to market a cohesive destination experience that encourages visitors to stay longer and engage deeply with our region.

The Tasting Trail is membership-based and seeks members with a common interest in sharing our place, produce and stories with visitors. We are more than the sum of our parts: a genuinely regional offering of diversity, depth and authenticity. Members include producers of wine, craft beer and spirits, gourmet foods (such as cheese, olives, condiments, and confectionary), fruit, vegetables, nuts, meat and seafood; and are open to public visitation for all or part of the year. Membership also extends to transport/tour providers that sell tour packages based around the Tasting Trail – a means of knitting the Trail as a cohesive destination product.

Collectively, our members already attract over 500,000 visitors per year across the north and northwest. The Tasting Trail membership offers immediate access to referrals between members, facilitated wayfinding through guided signage, interactive and printed maps as well as powerful business-to-business word of mouth recommendations.

The Tasting Trail territory comprises nine local council areas. The strategic rationale for this territory is to draw visitors from Launceston, right along Tasmania's northwest.
